

THE UNIVERSITY OF WISCONSIN CENTRAL DATA REQUEST

COLLEGE CODES TABLE

Overview

The CDR College Code Table is presented in two sequences: alphabetically by college name within state and sequentially by code number. All colleges external to the continental United States that are located within a specific U.S. territory or foreign country are given the identical code.

Update Procedure

The CDR College Code Table was developed from the ACT College Code Table. However, the CDR table is maintained independently of any other coding structure.

The CDR update provides a summary of recent updates to the CDR College Code Table. The procedure outlined below may be used to request additions/changes to the table.

1. A request for an additional college code is received by the CDR table manager in OPAR. The request may be transmitted via email or over the telephone.
2. The CDR table manager checks the most recent list to insure that the institution is not listed already, possibly under another name, e.g., Fullerton State College, Fullerton, California is listed as California State College, Fullerton. If the institution is listed, the code is given to the requestor.
3. If the institution is not listed in the table, various sources are checked to insure that the institution does exist. Some sources are:
 - Yearbook of Higher Education
 - Higher Education Directory
 - American Universities and CollegesIf the institution is not listed, the requestor may be notified and more information may be sought (e.g., a 2-year institution may have become a 4-year institution with a completely new name).
4. When it has been determined that a new code must be added to the table, the code is assigned on the following basis:
 - a. check the list which is in alphabetical sequence by institution name within states to determine a possible code.
 - b. check the numerical sequence listing to insure that the code has not been used.
5. Respond to requestor with the new code.
6. Update the table and the summary of recent updates.
