RESIDENT STATUS OF UW SYSTEM STUDENTS

Undergraduate students with Wisconsin resident status made up 77 percent of the undergraduate enrollment in the UW System in fall 2016 (Table 7). Another 14 percent were classified as nonresident students, and the remaining 9 percent attended a UW System institution under the Minnesota or Michigan Reciprocity programs. Since 2007, the percentage of resident students has declined while the percentage of nonresident undergraduates has increased from 8 percent to 14 percent, due in part to tuition programs targeting out-of-state students. These programs include the Tri-State Initiative (1,554 headcount enrollment in fall 2016), the Midwest Student Exchange (3,605), and the Return to Wisconsin (94) programs, plus 189 students enrolled under the Veterans' Choice Act.

In fall 2016, Wisconsin resident undergraduate enrollment ranged from a low of 47 percent at UW-Superior to a high of 94 percent at UW-Oshkosh and UW Colleges. Nonresident enrollment ranged from 5 percent at UW Colleges, UW-River Falls, and UW-La Crosse to a high of 29 percent at UW-Madison. Minnesota reciprocity students make up a large proportion of the enrollment at UW institutions near the Minnesota border. The highest proportion of reciprocity enrollment is found at UW-River Falls, where Minnesota reciprocity students comprised 47 percent of total undergraduate enrollment. Michigan reciprocity is used by a small group of students attending UW-Marinette.

Graduate and professional headcount enrollment by resident status is shown in Table 8. Wisconsin resident graduate and professional students comprised 54 percent of total graduate and professional student enrollment in UW System institutions in fall 2016. Another 43 percent were classified as nonresident students, and 3 percent were Minnesota reciprocity students. The share of resident graduate and professional enrollment has declined 9 percentage points since fall 2007, while the nonresident graduate and professional enrollment share has grown 9 percentage points in the same time period.
